Managers Report
It’s not just the return of rain that tells us Fall is here. I know because I always try to remember the equinox and balance an egg to commemorate the event. I rarely miss. You can really feel the egg snap into place when it’s found its sweet spot.

Fall Broomie Award | The Red Hot!
Each quarter, the 6th Avenue Business District awards the Broomie, a beautifully hand painted broom, to a business that’s been doing a stellar job at keeping the outside of their store clean and tidy. This quarter we’ve chosen Red Hot to receive the award because we’ve noticed their employees going around with a broom and dust bin, including by our new community boards, keeping the space around their restaurant looking sharp. We’re happy to leave the Broomie for them to display in the restaurant for the quarter until it’s passed on to the next winner.

Life is all about balance. Our board has had some openings all year: Treasurer and Secretary. Peter Vanrosendaal has jumped in to take the Secretary position. Our bookkeeper makes the missing Treasurer position less painful. Jacob Pugh, an at large board member, is resigning at the end of this year. And, we have some business owners interested in stepping up to fill some holes on the board: Jacqueline Plattner of Primo and Lacy Lind of Ruston Mercantile. When you see them please thank them for their interest. Sixth Ave Board is no small commitment. We hold our general business meetings each month as well as monthly board meetings. And our board members are balancing.

work and home lives as well. Board member Tim Marlowe and his wife Sadie became parents of a beautiful baby girl last month. They are finding a way to balance these demands as well as those of the district.

Our board has been balancing the needs of the businesses with the rules of the City as well. They heard your requests and complaints. We have more garbage bins and soon we will be testing our pole painting to see if it meets City approval as well. We’ve hired someone to take care of the worn out yarn bombs, the random graffiti, the tree wells and sidewalk weeds. This keeps the district lively and exciting and encourages foot traffic for better shopping and dining experiences. They keep our district top of mind with City officials by attending meetings, applying for grants, and bringing large events to the district—all of which require balancing their time.

Be advised, it is the job of the board to promote our district, but it is not necessarily their job to promote your individual business. We feature speakers with promotional opportunities at most business meetings so that you can find ways to get your business the attention of various customer bases. From podcasts to radio to social media, from silent auction opportunities to magazines and events large and small, the board and our committees work to help you. Please help them. Committees of one are no fun. So take a few minutes to attend a meeting and say hello to your fellow business owners.

One fun way to get your name out there is to support the Rainbow Center’s 17th Annual Black & White Gayla at the Convention Center on November 2nd. They are looking for direct donations as well as donations for their silent auction. You can reach out to Andy Vargo at 253.208.7571 or email at andy@awkwardcareer.com. Find out more about the Rainbow Center and the event at www.rainbowcntr.org. It’s a black tie event, so if you’re jonesin’ to wear a tuxedo or formal, here’s your chance!
Street Beat
By Peter Vanrosendael/Turntable Treasures

Street Beat is a What's Happening in 6ABD. Well.....what has happened is the awards YOUR business district has received. Four city wide KUDOS for our little corner of the world were officially presented at our last business meeting:

- BEST NEIGHBORHOOD NIGHTLIFE
- BEST NEIGHBORHOOD FOR SINGLES
- BEST STREET FAIR - AOA
- BEST ART EVENT.

This could not have come about without inputs/hard work from all. Your business contributed to this warm fuzzy, whether you wanted it or not. 6ABD SYNERGY where the sum of the parts … etc.

And as always, if you have anything to further the conversation, please join a committee and/or come to the general membership meeting. Thanks for reading this.

Hello 6th Ave! Hope you’re doing well and gearing up for another crazy holiday season, which seems to sneak up on us earlier each year!

Small Business Saturday is just around the corner, and we’ve been working to make each year a bit bigger and more coordinated. Our community comes out to support their favorite local establishments in big ways, kicking off a great season of sales for all of us, and this is our opportunity to welcome and thank them for their continued support. This year we’d like to continue that and, with your help, make it the best SBS yet!

We will have a check in spot for SBS this year - a place for patrons to get info on sales, activities, and specials up and down The Ave. We can’t really put that together without knowing what you’re planning to do. I will be popping in around mid-October, but if you have ideas about SBS or have already planned out your specials, events, etc - feel free to reach out.

Selfie stations, face painters, costumed superheroes, free cookies and cocoa - whatever you have to offer (and any awesome ideas you have but need help coordinating) - we would love to hear about it! As always, we are open to any assistance and suggestions. Thanks!
